

Are You Hurricane Ready?

Hurricane season officially began June 1st, but historically it is July - September where we see the frequency of storms really rise. The NRF wants to remind you all that when UF announces a hurricane closure, the NRF will also be closed! Depending on the anticipated severity and path of the storm the NRF staff may need to bring some tools offline ahead of the closure. Please be patient during the day/hours leading up to a storm closure, and in the early hours after reopening as some tools may need to be checked or tested before they can be placed back online.

We also want to remind you all to prep your workspace and homes for storms as well. Know where the safest interior locations are to shelter in place if needed, and be prepared with a few days to a weeks worth of food and water. Got pets? Don't forget about them, keep extra food and water on hand for your pets during storm season too! A go bag, or a 3 day supply of necessities in an easily transported container is always a good idea. If told to evacuate, do not delay.

Never run a generator in your garage, near windows, or indoors!
